BODY OF SAILOR PICKED UP ON HAMPTON BEACH

The body of Mark Grensley, a first class boatswain mate attached to the U. S. S. Baltimore was picked up at Hampton Beach on Wednesday afternoon by a patrolman from the coast guard station. The senior medical officer Dr. F. W. F. Weber of the navy yard was notified and ordered the remains turned over to the undertaker at Hampton and sent to the navy yard. The fact that the flesh was gone from his face and hands and no marks on his clothing caused some delay in his identification by the navy men. Later, however, they learned who the dead man was from a mold on the breast which corresponded with his description in his enlistment papers.

He was 30 years old and had previously been declared a deserter as he had been missing a short time after the ship arrived at the Portsmouth Navy Yard. His home is in Philadelphia and the navy department has wire instructions to ship the body to his relatives. The navy department will order the customary investigation as far as possible regarding the disappearance and death of the man.

Petrograd, June 21—Martial law has been proclaimed in Tomsik, Western Siberia, because of the wholesale murder and robberies that have taken place by the convicts who were pardoned in order to join the forces of the workmen.
More than 600 of these pardoned criminals have been arrested and 800 associates taken into custody.
Twenty persons were killed and many robberies committed.
The arrest followed a plot disclosed to plunder all banks and business houses.
The 800 associates of the criminals were dragged from their headquarters. The casualties occurred when resistance was being made to the threatened arrest.

3 COL. U. W. H. H. Y. A.
The commencement exercises of the Class of 1917, Portsmouth High school were held at the Portsmouth Theatre, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock when the largest class in the history of the school graduated.

Whether destined to join the army of wage earners forthwith or to go through the further refining process of the collegiate mill, the intruders of the Portsmouth High school educational machinery have turned them out, like all other classes, a well finished product.

As usual the exercises were witnessed by a capacity audience comprised of relatives and friends of the fair graduates. The stage was banked as usual with palms and ferns, and decorated with the class colors, blue and gold, this work being admirably done by the members of the Junior class.

In the midst of this wealth of verdure sat the class of eighty-five, fifty-one girls and thirty-four boys.

The front seats were reserved for the graduates and the school officials while raised tiers at the back afforded room for the undergraduates.

Presentation of Class Gift

The presentation of the class gift, a Chandler and Price paper cutter for the printing outfit of the school, was made by Class President Theodore Rutledge Butler and the acceptance was by Hon. Calvin Page of the High school committee.

Mr. Butler's address was as follows:
Mr. Chairman, Members of the School Board, Teachers and Pupils of the Portsmouth High School, Ladies and Gentlemen:

For many years past Portsmouth High school has been remembered by friends who have taken interest in the school and its affairs, and have given many useful and substantial gifts. These expressions of interest have taken many various forms, sometimes a gift to the library, and sometimes money, which is used for the promotion of certain phases of school work.

Our domestic science department has received many useful gifts through the kindness of business men of the city. A kitchen cabinet, gas-range, gas-water heater and many pieces of electrical apparatus have been given to this department. Our physics department has also received many useful gifts. Notably among these are Toppler Holtz induction machine which is used for experimental purposes in the laboratory, and a one and three-quarters horsepower motor which is not used to a great extent in the physics department but may be used in the manual training department later.

There have also been many pictures and books given by individuals. James T. Fields, a writer and publisher, himself gave many hundreds of books to the school, which included sets of books written by Dickens, Scott and Shakespeare, and also some classical writings from his own pen. Only recently the sum of $6,000 was given by Mrs. Fields, the widow of the late James T. Fields, which is to be used for needy and worthy pupils seeking high school education.

In 1915 the pupils of the school realized what a good friend James T. Fields was, and in return they named their debating society "The James T. Fields Debating Society." One of the first and most honored gifts is that of the Rev. Dr. Burrows, a large Bible. He really instituted the idea of individual gifts. Through him the pupils were inspired to give one book each to the High school and in this way many new books were obtained. This finally led to the idea of class gifts. It seemed better to make a contribution as a unit rather than many individual gifts. The idea of class gifts was first instituted by the class of 1890. The gifts of the early 90's were of a classical nature such as pictures of Roman Gladiators, Greek Gods, etc. When in 1905 the High school was changed to the new building on Istington street, the pupils saw that there was a large library to be filled and so for five successive years the classes gave books and in later years the pupils noticed that the class room walls were in need of decoration, and so they began to give pictures, certainly appropriate ones because many of them were the scenes of America. The gifts of the last three years differ somewhat in nature from those preceding years, but all have met the needs of this high school. One of the gifts of the class of 1915 was a large silver debating cup and this cup has proven useful as a trophy, because each class is anxious to get possession of it.

It has done more than one thing in encouraging debating. In fact, so much interest was shown that in 1916 a school team was organized which easily captured the championship of New Hampshire, for which they were awarded a silver cup which they still hold. This year, there has been more interest shown in debating, and not only has a boys' but a girls' team been organized. Both of these teams have been successful in every respect. The boys and girls both won from

PORTLAND'S WATER SUPPLY IN DANGER

Federal Authorities Investigating Alleged Attempt to Dynamite Intake at Sebago Lake

(By Associated Press)
Portland, Me., June 21—Federal authorities were today investigating the port that an attempt was made last night to dynamite the manhole of the intake at Sebago lake with the intention of shutting off the supply of water of the Portland district, and that an airplane was seen two nights ago near the pipe line.

Civilian guards reported seeing two men near the manhole and fired ten shots at them. They escaped in an auto in which were two other men. They also stated that on Tuesday evening an airplane passed so close to the ground they could hear the occupants conversing.

ENDORSES PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT

(By Associated Press)
London, June 21—Dispatches from Petrograd to the Exchange Telegraph company says that the congress of soldiers and workmen delegates, for the whole of Russia voted supporting the provisional government and demanded the immediate resumption of offensive and reorganization of the army. A war cabinet was formed which includes all the leading officers of the army and navy and the technical corps.

ADVOCATES EXPENDITURE FOR AIRSHIPS

(By Associated Press)
Washington, June 21—One billion dollars is required to build 100,000 airplanes and maintain a force of 10,000 to 20,000 aviators.
Allen Hawley, president of the Aero club told a subcommittee of the senate today.
He declared 25,000 aviators could do more than an army of a million men in warfare.
He advocated a separate aeronautic department and predicted that the day of the trans-Atlantic airship was not far distant.

The most stupendous and appalling call in the history of the world to suffering humanity confronts the Red Cross. Large or small let your gift be a liberal one.

HEARING ON FARMER WILL AT KITTERY

Date Set for July 24; Judge

PEACE MOVE REPUDIATED BY SWISS

Berne, June 20.—Denial that Switzerland, through Councillor Hoffmann, was impelled in her peace moves by any outside information was semi-officially made here today.

It was stated that Hoffmann's communication to Russia through Swiss diplomatic channels and the propaganda work of the Swiss Socialist, Robert Grimm, at Petrograd, both leading to a separate peace between Germany and Russia, were merely for the purpose of encouraging a general peace.

Such a peace, it was asserted, was in Switzerland's interest as well as that of the whole world. It was emphatically denied that Hoffmann was under any influence from any quarter in his peace plans.

Hoffmann has resigned as chancellor and foreign minister to Switzerland and Grimm has been deported from Russia. The denial in plainly against suspicion, frequently voiced in allied countries, that Switzerland's insistent peace propaganda was inspired and directed by Germany.

EXETER

Exeter, June 21.—H. P. Davidson of Boston, a member of the J. P. Morgan company was the speaker last evening in the pavilion on the square in the interest of the Red Cross.

A thorough canvass is being made here under the direction of Albertus T. Dudley and Charles S. Bates, and Exeter's quota of $500 is a little more than one-half subscribed.

Solicitations will however continue during the week both here and in the neighboring towns.

RECOVERS FOR LOSS OF HAND

William L. Moody of Newton Secures Verdict of Nearly $9,000.

Exeter, June 21.—William L. Moody of Newton was awarded $8,917 by the jury in superior court yesterday morning for the loss of his left hand while operating a machine of the Newton tax company last December. The case has been on trial since last Friday noon, the allegations being that it was negligence on the part of the company which caused the accident.

At noon Tuesday the jury took the case and remained out all late in the evening, at midnight retiring at the Squamscott house, thus taking advantage of the law put through the legislature this year.

Yesterday morning the panel went to work again and shortly before noon brought back the verdict for the plaintiff. In all they were 23 hours deliberating, with about 15 hours of actual work.

The counsel were the firm of Sleeper, Brown and Fizzell of Exeter for the plaintiff and Taggart, Burroughs, Wyman and McNamee of Manchester for the defense, the arguments being made yesterday morning by County Solicitor William H. Sleeper for the plaintiff, and Mr. Wyman for the defendant. The foreman of the jury was Joseph Smith of Seabrook. This is the largest verdict awarded at this term of court.

RAILROAD NOTES

Beginning with the summer schedule of train service on the Boston and Maine the crew now running the regular trips of the Portsmouth and Dover branch will make but one trip daily between Dover and Portsmouth and put in the remainder of the day on the Lakeside branch.

Chauncey Brown, ticket agent at the Portsmouth depot has returned from a vacation in the port academy. Patrick Callaghan who has been substituting in his place has been assigned to the Dover ticket office during the vacation of the regular agent.

Walter Colbath, trip claim adjuster of the Boston and Maine was here today on business for the claim department.

The ticket office of the station at Georgetown was entered on the night of June 15 and several mileage books stolen.

Arthur Whitmore, passenger trainman of the Concord and Portsmouth branch has returned from a vacation at Tuftonboro.

Three cars of a gravel train on the Grand Trunk railway were hurled into the waters of the Royal river Tuesday and seventeen men who were in the cars narrowly escaped death by drowning when the flood which had risen over the tracks started an avalanche of earth from an embankment which had caved. Sunday's heavy rain caused a washout on the Grand Trunk between Down and North Yarmouth, and delayed all travel for 24 hours. The passenger trains passed on a temporary side track. It was while the section hands were working on this washout that the cave-in occurred.

The Boston and Maine has modified its original plan of cutting off 397 passenger trains in response to protests and protests from various localities. Changes in the schedules are being constantly made; but, as now planned, 254 trains will be taken off June 25. This represents curtailment as compared with usual summer schedules, and not as compared with spring service. Normally Boston and Maine's service is increased about 150 trains or one-sixth in summer.

Attorney-General Brundage of Illinois, backed by Governor Lowden, on Tuesday was contemplating wholesale arrests of railway ticket agents all over the state as a result of a raise in passenger rates on Illinois railroads, which went into effect on Monday. Passenger rates were raised from 2 to 24 cents a mile. This is in keeping with an order of the Interstate Commerce Commission, but conflicts with the state's 3-cent fare law.

The Massachusetts Public Service Board is on an inspection trip in a Boston and Maine special over the Rockport and Newburyport branches.

The construction department of the terminal division, Boston and Maine, is installing a new sea wall at Mystic wharf for the purpose of making additional room for the extra tracks.

The bridge department of the Boston and Maine has a double force of men rushing to completion repairs for Mystic River drawbridge No. 7.

HENRY L. MOORE GIVES $100,000 TO DARTMOUTH

Minneapolis Man Establishes Lectureships in Memory of Son

Hanover, June 21.—Announcement was made yesterday of a gift to Dartmouth of $100,000 from H. L. Moore of Minneapolis for the establishment of two lectureships of major import, designed primarily for the alumni of Dartmouth and open to students of the college or friends who may wish to utilize the advantages of the scheme as proposed.

Mr. Henry L. Moore is one of the trustees of the college and a graduate of the class of '77, now celebrating its fortieth anniversary. The lectureships will be known as "The Dartmouth Alumni Lectureships on the Guernsey Center Moore Foundation," and they are established in loving remembrance of Mr. Moore's son, a member of the class of 1904 whose sad death occurred early in his course.

Festivities of Dartmouth's 148th Commencement Week were brought to a close yesterday with the Alumni luncheon in college hall immediately following the exercises in Webster hall. Twelve honorary degrees, three master degrees in course, and 81 A. B. and 112 B. S. degrees were conferred at the graduation ceremonies of the class of 1917 yesterday morning. Among the seniors receiving their diplomas were a number of enlisted men who returned to Hanover for the final exercises of their college days.

The four commencement speakers selected from the graduating class gave their addresses in the following order: C. L. Stone spoke on "The Psychologist, a Practical Utopian"; H. W. Holt of veterinary rank had for his topic, "An Alternative for Government Administration of Our Railways"; A. P. Knapp of salutatory rank chose the subject, "The European Estimate of America"; and W. A. Barrows closed the addresses with the "Cost of Internationalism."

Honorary degrees were conferred today upon the following:

Master of Arts

His Excellency, Henry Wilder Keyes, Governor of New Hampshire.

James Arthur Tufts, professor of English, Phillips Exeter Academy, Exeter.

Wilder Dwight Quint, Journalist and author, Boston.

Master of Pedagogy

Walter Sampson, '86, superintendent of Schools, Middleboro, Mass.

Doctor of Pedagogy

Dan Carroll Bliss, '92, Superintendent of Schools, Montclair, N. J.

Doctor of Divinity

Samuel Smith Drury, Rector of St. Paul's School, Concord.

Doctor of Letters

Paul Elmer Moore, editor and author, Princeton, N. J.

Doctor of Science

Allen Hazen, civil engineer and authority on water supplies, New York City.

Doctor of Laws

George Hutchins Brigham, '87, Judge of the United States Circuit Court, Manchester.

William Alexander Ketchum, '87, lawyer and sometime Attorney General of Indiana, Indianapolis, Ind.

Henry Cabot Lodge, United States Senator from Massachusetts, Washington, D. C.

The gift of Mr. Moore is an extension of the principle to which he committed himself more than ten years ago, in accordance with the advice of President Baker, that great good could be done the college by donating of such funds as Mr. Moore found himself able to give to the college for the purpose of its cultural advantage.

In accordance with the desire on the part of the donor, the frequent gifts to the college from him have been applied to the development of the work in fine arts. It is a logical and profitable extension of such an interest that now makes available for alumni and friends of the college annually an opportunity to sit under leaders of the world's thought, who may be secured to speak on various themes with which the purposes of the college concern themselves.

Some colleges placed within large cities, do extension work in their own communities and others administered under state auspices, render large service to their state constituencies. Mr. Moore's plan, however, protects an extension work for the benefit of the college graduates and men whose interests lead them into these groups. The proposal is based on the argument that if the college has conviction that its influence is worth seeking at the expense of four vital years in the formative period of a man's life, the college ought to offer some method of giving access to this influence to its graduates in their subsequent years.

Moreover, the growing practice of retiring men from active work at ages from 45 to 70 and the not infrequent tragedy of interesting himself outside of the routine of which he has been relieved make it seem that college has no less an opportunity to be of service to its men in their old age than in their youth. If only it can establish the procedure by which it can periodically throughout their lives give them opportunity to replenish their intellectual reserves.

Mr. Moore's assurance to the trustees has been that he would be glad to make the income of $100,000 available to the college for a period of years, for the support of this plan, and if the plan should prove to have the advantage, that it is expected to have, that he would then transfer the principal to the college thus insuring permanency to the project.

The only member of the graduating class from this city was Harold Burleigh Wendell who received the degree of Bachelor of Science.

NORTH KITTERY

"There's a Reason"

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN IS NEARLY HALF SUBSCRIBED

New England Picking up But is Far from Front of Column.—New York Has Added 20,000,000 in Twenty-Four Hours

(By Associated Press)

Washington, June 20.—The compilation of returns from the many districts in the country show that a vast number of people are subscribing for the Red Cross and with their records for the day bring the total $13,500,000 already tabulated. New York city leads the nation with $1,300,000.

Subscriptions to the $100,000,000 fund are coming in rapidly with New England fifth in the group of states.

At a late hour last night it was announced from Boston that the city had given $500,000 of its allotment. The figures were given out at Red Cross campaign headquarters.

Kansas City Sets Goal at $400,000. Kansas City is out to gather in $400,000 for the War Fund. Don Farasworth is the director of the work in this territory and states: "I have never seen such immediate and genuine response from business men and others as this which has followed the announcement of this campaign not only here but all over the United States. I am sure that Kansas City will be in the first column when the results become known."

Cincinnati is planning to hold a Red Cross parade on Sunday and has set out to raise $500,000 of her million before the campaign gets under way on Monday. William Procter is one of the leaders in Cincinnati and when "Members of city will give heavy cooperation."

Michigan has been organized for the campaign from end to end and plans to reach every individual in state. Since 1913 Scranton, Pa., has had a dozen campaigns and has succeeded in raising two million dollars. Despite this fact she is now out after a goal of two hundred thousand for the Red Cross. Judges have stepped down from their benches, clergymen from their pulpits and business men have dropped their commercial ties to "Do their bit" in the Red Cross War Fund Campaign.

Worcester Lined Up For Campaign. Although Worcester, Mass., has completed a membership campaign which netted 65,000 new Red Cross workers, the New England town has assumed $250,000 of the War Fund. Ex-Senator Chas. G. Washburn and James A. Logan, general manager of the United States Envelope Co., are devoting all their time and energy to promoting the Worcester campaign. Sir Herbert Ames, member of the Canadian Parliament and an active Red Cross worker has been secured to speak in New England Red Cross centers. Ex-President William Howard Taft is captaining one of the New Haven teams and is working zealously for the Connecticut campaign.

SELECTIVE CONSCRIPTION FOR NURSES

New York, June 20.—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Sr., head of the American Ambulance Hospital in Paris, strongly urges public health nurses in the United States to apply to their profession the principles of selective conscription during the war. She advises them not to throw up their positions here for the sake of undertaking work abroad.

"One of the great needs of America," she said, "will be for public health nursing. The organizations that are engaged in this work, instead of being weakened by loss of membership, should be strengthened to meet the increased demands that will be made upon them. Trained and experienced nurses who are now taking care of women, children and tubercular patients in their homes and in dispensaries can do no greater work for the country and for humanity than by remaining on their jobs."

"They must not consider themselves slackers or feel that they are lacking in patriotism if they stick to their daily round of duties. On the contrary, it would be absolutely wrong for them to give up their work and jump at the first chance which offers for war service abroad."

"Somebody has to take care of the women and children while the men are at the front. It is irrational for those who take care of them, and who know and understand their needs, to fly off to some other place and work and leave them at the mercy of inexperienced workers. We all know that war breaks down home conditions. Slackness and poverty follow in its wake, and there are a thousand and one ills which have to be met and overcome. Who can do this better than the public health nurse who belongs to a well organized group of workers which is able to combat just such conditions?"

Mrs. Vanderbilt cited her own experience in Paris at the beginning of the war when her first impulse was to close the Vanderbilt Dispensary to women and children and to devote it to the care of wounded soldiers.

"On second thought," she said, "I realized that would be a mistake, just because everybody was doing the same thing. I never regretted following my more mature judgment. In a short time our attendance decreased from 115 to 250. I believe we saved any number of the future citizens of France by simply thinking twice and sticking to our original work."

THREE WEEKS BEFORE FOOD BILL PASSES

(By Associated Press)

Washington, June 20.—The Administration Food control bill under discussion in both Houses of Congress will not pass the Senate for from two to three weeks it was stated by leaders of the House tonight. The House will likely adopt the five-minute rule for debate tomorrow so as to reach a vote on the measure on Saturday. The House remained in session until a late hour tonight to allow for discussion.

Following the passage of the bill in the House, which is assured by the House leaders, the Senate will take up the measure and the severe opposition by a large number of Senators is expected to delay action several weeks.

WANT TO ERECT WIRELESS STATIONS

(By Associated Press)

Mexico City, June 21.—Oil companies operating in the vicinity of Tampico have petitioned the government to be allowed to erect and operate wireless stations for conducting their business. The petition is under consideration but it is said that if it is granted, it will be on condition that the stations be under government control and manned by government operators.

SOPHIA ALARMED BY ABDICATION OF GREEK KING

Geneva, June 20, via Paris.—The semi-official Balkan News Agency says that King Ferdinand of Bulgaria has been impressed deeply by the abdication of King Constantine, and considers it certain former Premier Venizelos will take office at the head of the government and that Greece will enter the war against Bulgaria.

King Ferdinand therefore intends to go shortly to German great headquarters to demand assistance. Consternation has been caused in Sofia by Constantine's abdication.

Lugano, Switzerland, June 20.—Former King Constantine of Greece arrived here today. Officers and delegates of the Swiss government met him at the frontier and welcomed him in the name of Switzerland. A large number of German personages waited for the King at the depot. Including Prince and Princess von Buelow and Dr. von Muehlberg, German minister to the Vatican. The Greek minister to Rome also was present. Constantine and his suite drove directly to the hotel, where rooms had been reserved for them.

A number of German diplomats arrived here in anticipation of the coming of the former King, who was delayed by the illness of his wife. A long telegram from the German Emperor was handed to Constantine as he left the train.

The immediate future movements of the former monarch are unknown, but it is probable he will shortly go to Germany to visit the Emperor.

Messina, via Paris, June 20.—Former King Constantine of Greece asked permission of the Italian government to land at either Brindisi or Taranto, but the request was refused because both these ports are military and naval bases and it seems that some German office were included in Constantine's suite.

POLICEMAN WINS FIGHT WITH MAN ARMED WITH AXE

Boston, June 20.—There is a brief moment of indecision at the climax of nearly every criminal act according to old police officers. It was during this moment of indecision that Patrolman J. J. Hopkins of the Somerville police force today prevented Hugh Downey, 36 years old, of 481 Columbia street, from bringing down an upraised axe on the officer's head.

Downey in drunken madness had been chasing his wife about the house with the axe, threatening her life. He had broken much of the furniture in the little tenement, and she had fled to the street.

The noise had attracted a crowd. Patrolman Hopkins went into the kitchen. There stood Downey with his axe ready. Up went the axe as Downey entered. Uttering a threat against the officer's life if he advanced, the laborer held the weapon ready.

Hopkins advanced. A sudden light of indecision flickered in the man's eye. Downey saw it and dashed in, catching the man's wrists. The fight was on. They rolled about on the floor, beating at each other, kicking and using every method they knew to gain the upper hand. The muscles of the officer won, finally. Downey gave up the struggle and was led to the station, where he was booked on a charge of assault and battery on an officer.

In the police court he pleaded not guilty and was held in $300 for a hearing tomorrow.

MOB PICKETS FOR SUFFRAGE AT CAPITOL

Washington, June 20.—Incensed suffrage pickets who flung denunciations before the White House gates as the Russian commission entered to greet President Wilson, an angry mob of 300 men and women, mostly government clerks out on lunch hour, charged the women and tore the banners to shreds.

"President Wilson and Envoy Root are deceiving Russia," was the accusation printed in black type on a banner 10 feet high displayed at the two official entrances to the White House. "They say, 'We are a democracy. Help us win a world war so that democracies may survive.' We, the women of America, tell you that America is not a democracy." Twenty million American women are denied the right to vote. President Wilson is the chief opponent of their national enfranchisement.

"Help us make this nation really free. Tell our government that it must liberate its people before it can claim free Russia as an ally."

Miss Lucy Burns, New York, and Mrs. Lawrence Lewis, Philadelphia, carried the banners.

URGES JAPAN TO BUILD MANY SUBMARINES

(By Associated Press)

Tokyo, June 21.—Japan's most influential newspaper, the Jiji, urges the government to build a large number of submarines for the defense of Japan's extended coast line, conjoining with battleships, cruisers and other kinds of warships. At the same time the newspaper advises the government to keep the number of its submarines secret.

Down With the Grafters.

It is unpleasant, though perhaps it should not be surprising, to learn that grafters are already coming to the front in connection with war operations. So soon it is made plain that at least some elements of "big business" are after what they can get out of the situation in which the nation finds itself and that eternal vigilance is going to be the price of a square deal on the part of some of the men and corporations with whom the government is obliged to deal on a large scale.

One instance that may be cited is that of the steel men, who started in for a good slice of that which is going. They asked $95 a ton for steel for the fleet of merchant ships to be constructed by the government, or, what amounts to the same thing, the Shipping Board's Emergency Fleet Corporation, and General Goethals, general manager of the corporation, agreed to pay it, when along came Chairman Denman of the Shipping Board and said "No." His interference resulted in reducing the price to $56 a ton. This, of course, is a tentative price. The work is to go on and if it is found that the steel men cannot furnish the steel at that price they will be paid more, while if it is found that they can do it for less they will be paid less. This is a very different arrangement from that which would have started the business off with steel at $95 a ton. What the price actually paid will be cannot now be told, but the chances are that it will be far below the figures assented to by General Goethals, who is perhaps a better canal builder than financier.

Another bit of unpleasant reading concerns a reported attempt on the part of munitions manufacturers to evade taxes. According to report, this matter was brought to light by internal revenue agents who found that the manufacturers had not been making complete returns. It is said that if the evasion attempted had been successful the government would have been defrauded out of $10,000,000 on business already done. And how would the account have stood if this fraud had gone undetected until the end of the war?

At a time when the country is aflame with patriotism and all classes are being called upon to give and to sacrifice, such disclosures as these grate harshly. They show that cold-blooded calculators stand ready to feather their nests at the expense of the government, which is the people. The munitions makers in particular are in a position to fatten legitimately out of their business at this time, and for them to attempt to evade any part of their taxes is not only criminal, but cowardly.

It is to be hoped the government and its agents will keep a sharp eye out for all crookedness of this character. While the people are sacrificing life and means for the protection of the country's rights and honor they are in no mood to be fleeced by creatures for whom blood-suckers is too good a name.

Fears that the country would fail to rise to the occasion in connection with the Liberty loan were entirely unfounded, as is proved by the returns. The people of the United States have never been in the habit of doing things by halves, a fact which the kaiser will understand better than he now does by the time he gets to the end of his rope.

French soldiers have greatly improved the territory ruthlessly devastated by the retreating Germans and valuable crops will be raised on soil which was plowed by artillery. The French are a very thrifty people and will never starve if given half a chance. But to put these wasted fields in order was almost like clearing up a new country.

Over in France they are having a little trouble with the pronunciation of General Pershing's name. It is pronounced in several different ways, one being Puerchigne, but as time goes on the different schools of pronunciation may get together and settle down on "Pushing," a decision in which even the Germans will be liable to concur.

The department of agriculture advises discouraged gardeners to plant beans, and it is good advice. There have been many discouraging conditions this spring and many seeds have failed to sprout, but there is yet time enough to raise a good crop of beans if they are planted immediately where other crops have failed.

The time for filling the ranks of the New Hampshire national guard is short, ending June 30. Nearly 600 more men are needed and it is to be hoped they will come forward promptly and thus maintain the reputation of the Granite State for occupying a place in the front ranks whenever there is a call to duty.

Sugar is not scarce, says Food Regulator Hoover. Of course it isn't. You can get all the sugar you want if you have the price. And the same is true of potatoes and other eatables that might be mentioned.

From the Exchanges

Another Sea-Mystery.

(From the Baltimore American)
The Germans admit now that since the merchant submarine, the Bremen, started on her voyage to this country she has never been heard of. That is, she has never been heard of by them.

We Had Trouble With Joffre.
Frenchmen have difficulty in pronouncing General Pershing's name. If he goes into Germany as fast as he went into Mexico the Prussians will not have the time to pronounce it.

They Did Their "Bit"
(From the Buffalo Express)
The share which the Boy Scouts had in the Liberty Loan campaign is another proof of their efficiency.

Not To Be Mentioned
(From the Brooklyn Eagle)
Of course, we shall be polite to Japan's Mission when it comes. But allusions to Jap paramountcy in China must be cut out, if courtesy is not to be a grave strain on American temper.

A Real Test This Week
(From the Detroit Free Press)
We shall have a better gauge of our people's devotion to the cause of freedom when the campaign for the Red Cross reaches full speed. Then we must give money, not invest it profitably. That will be sterner work than what we have been about, and by it, not by the result now announced, we shall prove our national spirit. But the success of the one undertaking ought to stimulate endeavor for the other and it may be hoped that as our people have responded to the first of war's demands upon them they will meet the second and more exigent, with cheerfulness and earnestness.

Belgium and Armenia
(From the Philadelphia Public Ledger)
Since Mr. Hoover has suggested the cancellation of individual pledges for the Belgian refugees, in view of provision made by national appropriation for their relief, it has been suggested that those who had agreed to subscribe toward the fund for the destitute might well divert their philanthropy toward an even greater need, geographically so remote that it has not always been able to gain the ear of western charity. "The Armenians? Oh, well, that is an old story! The Armenians are accustomed to being massacred." With some such flippant comment certain among us, oppressed with many claims on their benevolence, dismiss from their minds the grievous affliction detailed in the report sponsored by Viscount Bryce. But those who know the facts cannot hold their peace, and knowing whereof they speak they cannot rest till they have done everything in their power for those who wander in stripes, starving multitudes in Asia Minor till claimed by death. If those who have hitherto helped Belgium seek an objective equally important for their altruism, let them inquire into the plight of Armenia.

Cardinal Farley's Wise Advice
(From the Brooklyn Eagle)
A man of eighty-four, of good reputation and with married children, a member of the Roman Catholic Church, confided to Cardinal Farley his intention to marry a woman of twenty-seven. On the stand before Justice Crosey, this old man testified:
The Cardinal was greatly surprised and told me I was too old to think of such a step. I told him I agreed with him, but that this affair was kind of forced on me, Cardinal Farley then insisted that I draw up an agreement which my children must sign. He said that not only should I gain the consent of my family, but that I should make the agreement so that it protected them as well as the prospective bride.
Furthermore, the Cardinal in the presence of the woman who sued for breach of promise, told the veteran that the proposed marriage was all wrong. The agreement was drawn up. Later the children persuaded the father to abandon the idea of marrying.
Better advice than Cardinal Farley gave could not be suggested. Love matches between December and May are perhaps not impossible, but certainly improbable. The Church stood in this case, as it always stands, against a travesty on the sanctity of marriage; it stood strongly for family rights, for the conventions of respectability. How much social order depends on the sanctity of marriage, on the defence of family rights, on the maintenance of the conventions of respectability it would be hard to determine.

Increasing Knowledge
(From the Hartford Courant)
Lowell in his day said that "they didn't know everything down in Judee," and, in these latter days it seems almost possible that it is true, for in his day, Agur, the son of Jakeh, wrote, "There be three things which are too wonderful for me, yea, four which I know not. The way of an eagle in the air, the way of a serpent upon a rock, the way of a ship in the midst of the sea and the way of a man with a maid."
Two of these the wise Hebrew, if he were living today, would observe have been discovered. The way of the eagle in the air has been followed, over France and England, by something more heartless and cruel than the eagle. The way of the ship in the midst of the sea has been charted by undersea boats whose captains are as ruthless as those of the air-craft; so these things, mysterious in 700 B. C., are now understood of all. Nobody cares now as to the way of the serpent upon a rock, but as to the fourth mystery the son of Jakeh is still right. For that matter he might reverse it and yet be correct.

SUBMARINES SHELLED MEN IN BOATS

(By Associated Press)
Paris, June 21.—A German submarine after sinking the British steamer turned its guns on the occupants of the small boat and killed eight.
One of the patrol boats of the British fleet picked up 50 persons belonging to a British steamer that had been torpedoed by a submarine and drove off two submarines who were close to the boats. Another patrol boat saved 40 men and drove off the submarine which had shelled a small boat killing eight.

SUFFRAGE BANNERS TORN DOWN

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, June 21.—The persistence of the Suffrage sentiment in holding their banners with inscriptions interpreted as treasonable, today culminated in an auto-suffrage demonstration when a crowd of nearly one thousand persons tore them down.
The crowds victory was only of slight duration as within ten minutes two more banners obtained from suffrage headquarters nearby, had replaced them.
Police notified passersby not to disturb them.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

Sixty of the recruits at Port Constitution have been sent way.

Now for the real vacation weather.

RELATION OF THE RED CROSS TO THE ARMY

Brigadier General Edwards Says It Is a Self Created Obligation Which We Have Agreed to Maintain.

I have been asked to give a brief statement of the work that the Red Cross will do in the war and its relation to the operations of the army. In order to understand more clearly the relation which the Red Cross bears to the army, it is necessary to fix in our minds the general scheme which we are about to undertake as a part of our duty in the present war.

The first zone of operations is known as the "Zone of the Interior." This zone embraces all of the activities required to mobilize, equip, train and supply our troops in the United States, transport them overseas and disembark those forces and their supplies on the shores of France.

The second zone of operations is known as the "Zone of the Line of Communications" and embraces all of the transportation system of extending from the port of disembarkation to that point in the rear of the lines beyond which it is impossible for rail transportation to supply the troops and where advance depots will be kept filled from the bases by rail communications.

The third zone of operations is known as the "Zone of the Advance" and embraces everything from the head of the rail transportation to No-Man's Land.

The system by which the wounded are removed from the battlefield and transferred to the rear is known by the military term of "Evacuation of the Wounded." In the operations of this system there are successive steps involved. The first step in transporting a wounded man to the rear, will be to give him first aid at some battalion or regimental aid station. From this point he is transferred further to the rear, usually to some place selected because of its security from artillery fire, and known as a "Dressing Station." Here men are more carefully examined and their wounds dressed. From this point they are transported by animal drawn vehicles where the roads are very poor or by motor ambulances where the roads are favorable, to the head of rail transportation where field hospitals are either set up, or private buildings are converted into temporary hospitals. Here the men receive the first general attention, these field hospitals being equipped with everything that it is reasonably possible to transport in the field. They are supplied with cot, blankets and operating apparatus for emergency cases, and here for the first time the soldier may expect stimulants in the way of broths and other delicacies if it is possible for him to be fed. From this point those who can stand transportation are transported by rail back to the base hospitals.

Along this line of rail communication rest stations are necessary where men are fed and provided with stimulants. In the case of the United States we may reasonably expect that the most of the cases will be held at base hospitals in France until they are convalescent, when they will probably be furnished home on sick leave.

Along this route of bruised and bleeding humanity the Red Cross operates throughout all the zone of the interior and the overseas transport, at the base hospitals, and along the zone of the line of communication up to the regimental field hospitals; and some units will also operate in the zone of the advance, just as the American ambulance units in France have so operated. In the case of these men, of course, they will come under the constant risk of shell fire from the enemy's artillery.

Nothing could be further from the truth than to look upon the Red Cross as some kind of society aid. The Red Cross work is a self-imposed obligation which we have agreed by treaty to maintain, the machinery, for which has been created by national incorporation and to which work we have called without compensation some of the ablest business men of America.

FINDS NEWPORT CHARGE ABSURD

Absolutely Ridiculous, Says
Gov. Beekman—Naval Recruits Safe.

Providence, June 21—Governor Beekman yesterday afternoon characterized as "absolutely ridiculous" the charges made by Secretary Daniels as to conditions surrounding the naval station at Newport.

"The allegations that the naval reserves are exposed to immoral resorts, gambling houses and illegal liquor selling are absolutely ridiculous," he said. "No complaint or protest from any source has been made to me, either as governor or as a citizen of Newport, nor has any complaint been made to the state."

"I have talked to the mayor and he assures me that nothing is being carried on in Newport that should not be allowed."

"Asst. Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt will be my guest at Newport tomorrow and he will make an inspection of the premises himself. You can say that conditions are all right at Newport."

KITTERY

Kittery, June 21—Class day exercises were held at Academy hall on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, a large number of parents and friends of the class being present. The class colors, purple and gold, were prettily arranged back of the stage, while suspended above the front was the motto, "Non parva sine labore." Music was furnished by the trio, Mrs. Charles Phillips, piano; Mrs. Charles Phillips and Miss Eva Lambert, violinists. The members of the class were seated on the stage, and were dressed in caps and gowns. The president, Raymond Spiney, was in charge, and the following order of exercises was given, all parts being exceedingly well written and rendered:

Music.
Class History.....Lettory W. Keene
Class Prophecy.....Marion H. Morrow
Music.
Class Oration—"The Japanese Problem".....Franklin Harvey
Class Will.....Clarence H. Arce
Music.

The class will was as follows:
We, the Class of Nineteen Seventeen, of Trap Academy, of the Town of Kittery, in the County of York and the State of Maine, being of sound mind and memory, do make and declare, this our last will and testament.

First, we do give and bequeath to the class of Nineteen Eighteen, the honor of being Seniors, together with the dignity and solemnity which have always marked our general behavior in Rooms Two and Three.

Raymond Spiney, our industrious and brilliant president, does bequeath to Lester Frisbee his wonderful journalistic ability. We hope that Lester will uphold the reputation that Spiney has made during the four years in this school.

To Caroline Cutts, Cora Sterling, our overworked secretary, willingly bequeaths her position as pianist in the Assembly hall of this building, provided that she will play only music fitting to the occasion.

Bertha Frisbee does very reluctantly leave to Mildred Cole her methods of handling the masculine sex. We wonder if Miss Cole will be able to handle a certain Junior boy as well as Miss Frisbee has handled the vice president of our class.

Pauline Hobbs, the leader in styles for the last few years, in Trap Academy, does with a tearful eye, leave to Miss Chase her honored position of "Styles Girl" providing that Miss Chase will uphold the same coveted position in a manner both appropriate and fitting to the school.

To Selden Baker, Franklin Harvey leaves his stalwart size and general bulkiness. There is no doubt about the fact that Selden needs this generous gift, for it will enable him to be in a position where he can be seen. And at the same time our classmate of very sedate appearance bequeaths to Ralph Gerry his sedateness and sobriety. Perhaps if Gerry followed out Harvey's instructions he would have more freedom from the basement.

To Mabel Standish, Gertrude Ryland leaves her superfluous avoidupolis. We think that Mabel most certainly needs this.

Roy Keene, though he hates to do so, bestows upon Walter Staples his habit of writing book reviews after school on the day they are due.

Our most worthy schoolmate, Bertha Emery, leaves to Miss Elizabeth Cutts, her many long hours spent studying Latin, with the hope that Miss Cutts will soon settle down and do some studying and not cause so much trouble to the teachers.

Alice Patch's love for decorating the mud flats at Locke's Cove with school books is left to Doris Phillips. Perhaps if Miss Phillips tries walking the treble instead of running across it, she may be able to keep on her feet and not kiss the flies as well as strew her books upon the mud flats.

Ruth Lawry leaves her desire for devilled ham sandwiches to Newell Watts. Perhaps these sandwiches made up with devilled ham between them will help Newell get into a well known rut of joviality.

Itoy Keene's bashfulness among members of the feminine sex is left to Stanley Hayes. Perhaps if Stanley followed Keene's path, he might be able to get his Latin done perfectly.

Lillian Witham's wonderful powers at solving deep, mysterious problems is left to Marion Tobey. Perhaps by using this talent well, Marion may be able to discover who was accustomed to leave boxes of chocolate in her desk.

Raymond Spiney, though not sorrowfully, leaves to Cedric Brooks his position as bell boy. This is a position that requires much reliability and solemnity, so do take my advice and go to bed early. If Brooks does this there is no doubt but that he will be able to get to school in time to attend to his duties.

The chauffeur of the girls of the Class of 1917 will be found in the upward, right hand corner of the bulletin board, underneath the green covering. The bulletin board is situated in the south-eastern corner of the Main room.

Furbish is left the right to throw candy around the room so as to make the rest of his schoolmates stay three-quarters of an hour after school.

Marion Morrow's successful art of making eyes is left to Mildred Gerry. We pray that Mildred will practice this art to the extent of getting it as nearly perfect as Miss Morrow has; for, undoubtedly if she does so, she will be able to use it upon her principal; this will possibly result in his keeping his eyes somewhere else than on Mildred when she wants to throw a note across the aisle.

To Paul, Phillips and Hayes, we leave all of the playthings we have had during our four years at Trap. Perhaps these will so amuse the aforesaid boys that all their time will not be taken up in going to the back of the room visiting the Encyclopedia.

Be careful that you do not lose these as we held them in our highest esteem.

To Hazel Anderson, Cora Sterling does hereby most solemnly bequeath her great speed, at typewriting and shorthand.

Roy Keene leaves his fondness of oversleeping to Verlie Webber. We hope now that Webber will be able to finish his sleep without a troubled conscience mornings when he has had to walk home from Kittery Point the night before.

Ellen Blake's general ability to write poetry is left to Elizabeth Cutts.

The Misses Morrow and Hobbs leave their great ability to manufacture excuses at a moment's notice to Staples.

Lillian Witham's desire for receiving and sending notes is left to Mildred Becker. Probably Mildred will be the recipient of more notes than ever now. Spiney's popularity among the girls of his own class and especially among the teachers is left to Gunnison.

Bertha Emery's love for annoying the teachers is left to Christina Greenleaf.

To Oscar Farrington is left Miss Frisbee's unusual speed in talking. Oscar need not worry now about being slow.

To Mr. L'Amoureux we do respectfully bequeath a bag of peanuts. Undoubtedly he will appreciate these as one day he went around the room picking up peanuts after the treasurer of the Class of 1917 had been using some of the girls as targets.

A baseball bat that will be found in the boys' basement, we do this day solemnly declare that we give to Mrs. L'Amoureux for the express purpose of having the same to beat some intelligence in English into the incoming Freshman class, if it is necessary.

The fondness that Sam has shown toward the girls of our class is left to the class of 1918. We hope that he will find them as joyful as he found our feminine members.

Mrs. L'Amoureux's fondness for our class we willingly bequeath to the class of 1920, for we sincerely believe that they need it.

To Sam we leave a half pint of shellac and a brush to apply it with. It may be of some value to Mr. Hodgdon in subduing the antics of some of the boys.

To Miss Mabry we leave a theatrical outfit and theatre with which to produce more plays, something similar to those given at Trap.

The three back seats, occupied by the boys of the Class of 1917, we leave to any members of the Class of 1918 that are not afraid to throw peanut shells down into the register directly back of the seats.

To Miss Converse we leave a package of chewing gum, for well do we know Miss Converse's love for it.

Miss Mabry after a vast amount of pondering upon the question of parting with one of her treasures, does hereby most solemnly bequeath to Lafayette Keene her ever faithful alarm clock. This will undoubtedly always remind Keene whenever it awakes him from slumbering of the day he was dreaming in French.

Finally we the Class of 1917, do benevolently bequeath to the Class of 1918, Room 3, and three seats in Room 2, with all the supplies therein to be found at the different desks.

In witness thereof we have hereunto subscribed our names, this twelfth day of June in the year of our Lord One Thousand and Nine Hundred and Seventeen.

We, the undersigned, do certify and confirm this to be the last will and testament of the Class of 1917.

The members of the Class of 1917, of Trap Academy, together with the four teachers, were tendered a farewell party on Wednesday evening at the home of Lester Keene of Locke's Cove. The time was pleasantly passed with games and music, and gifts were presented to the teachers by the class, which were a most agreeable surprise.

Prof. L'Amoureux was the recipient of a set of military brushes; Mrs. L'Amoureux a volume of Alfred Noyes' poems; Miss Mabry a brass table book rack; and Miss Converse a fountain pen. Dainty refreshments of ice cream, assorted cake and fancy crackers were served. It was a late hour when this company departed thanking their host for this last happy social gathering of classmates and instructors.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES OF CLASS OF 1917

Dover, the boys won from Rochester and the girls from Sanborn, and no doubt the Portsmouth boys' team would have defeated the Sanborn team if they had met them. All these gifts that I have mentioned certainly have been useful and appropriate; but the class of 1917, I think, gave perhaps, not the most ornamental, but the most useful gift that ever has been given—that is the printing press. This press has been used during the last year for many various purposes. Tickets, posters, advertising matter for debates, socials and matters pertaining to the office, all have been printed by this single press. The first and only large job that was done this year was the benefit program, and all who attended must have appreciated the work of the press. The work of this press, made our class appreciate the value of it, and so we thought that an addition to the printing room might be the most appropriate gift at this time, so we have chosen a paper cutter as our gift.

As I say cutter, most people will think of it as a small, frail (unuseful) piece of machinery, but I assure you, Mr. Chairman, that it is no trinket, because it stands four feet high and weighs 900 pounds, and is one of the necessities of any printing room. It is a lever-running cutter, made by the Chandler-Price company, but can be easily adjusted so it may be run by power if convenient. This cutter is accurate because of its perfect fitting parts, strong because of its extra heavy frame-work, easy to operate because of its extra long lever.

Therefore, since we, the Class of 1917 thought it the most useful, appropriate and lasting gift, I take great pleasure in presenting this cutter to the Portsmouth High school in the name of the Class of 1917.

After the singing of "Away to the Woods" by the school, the address to the graduates was made by Professor Benjamin T. Marshall of Dartmouth college who took for his theme, "New Lives for Old Ideals."

Presentation of Haven Medals

As usual great interest was centered in the award of the Haven gold scholarship medals. The presentation was made by Charles B. Hodgdon for the High school committee and was as follows:

Conferring of Diplomas

To Mayor Samuel T. Ladd befall the honor of conferring the diplomas upon the happy and smiling graduates and in the bestowal of these parchments may each of the recipients be materially and permanently benefited.

Singing of Class Ode

The exercises came to a fitting close by the singing of the class ode written by Miss Ethel May Lynn which was as follows:

CLASS ODE TO 1917.

Classmates, four years recollection, And the joys that school days bring, Come to us in retrospection, As our parting song we sing.

Sweetly echo those bells of mem'ry, Borne by passing years along, But a minor chord of sadness Blends with this our farewell song.

Yet, with eager hearts and hopeful, We march out on life's broad way, Bearing with us shovels of learning, We have gleaned from day to day.

"Through Difficulties on to Glory," Be our motto in the strife, For well and life's conquests harder, Than the tests of our school life.

And though future years may drift us, Far from scenes today so near, Time and change can never rob us Of the memories clustered here. Like the sea-shell ever singing Of the surging, deep, blue sea, Melodies of days departed, Oft will come to you and me.

—Ethel May Lynn, '17.

BRITISH REGAIN LINES LOST TO THE GERMANS

Renewed Activity on Fighting Front in France Nets Gains to British.—German Attempt to Oust French Repulsed

(By Associated Press.)

For the third time since the beginning of the German intensified submarine warfare against Great Britain the figures have reached alarming proportions. Twenty-seven ships of more than 1000 tons and five of less than 1000 tons have been launched. This is the highest number of ships sunk in one week's excepting only the weeks ending April 21 and April 22, when the totals for the respective weeks were 40 and 38.

On the fighting front in France General Haig's men have again forced the Germans to retire, and have invested the German first line trenches holding investigation. All the officers who worked on the Gruger case were instructed to report to headquarters at once. Other detectives will co-operate with Mrs. Humiston in an inquiry into the city's white slave traffic.

The reports regarding the missing girls are on file at police headquarters. It was learned, it was conceded that the police were without accurate figures as to the number of these who had returned home. Mrs. Humiston has been quoted as saying she knew of a number of incidents which, involving missing girls, paralleled the Gruger case.

The police were today informed that Cecchi had hired other girls to his shop previous to Mrs. Gruger's disappearance. Mine, Mural, a resident of the neighborhood, said that in September of last year, her daughter Philippa, 15 years old, had visited the shop on Cecchi's invitation to be shown how a motor might be attached to the girl's bicycle. The mother, becoming suspicious, followed, and she told the police that she saw her daughter struggling with Cecchi, endeavoring to escape from his embrace.

Commissioner Woods ordered an excavation to be made of the cellar of every place where Cecchi has lived or had a motor cycle shop since his arrival in this country from Italy several years ago. Experts from the police bureau of repairs and supplies will test every floor and wall of every building and a search will be conducted from roof to cellar.

TRUTH TRIUMPHS.

Portsmouth Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit.

A truthful statement of a Portsmouth citizen, given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ill, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Portsmouth citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?

J. W. McMullen, Insurance agent, 553 Maplewood ave., Portsmouth, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and from the results I received I recommend them highly. I have endorsed this medicine before and I again willing do so."

NATION WIDE CAMPAIGN OF INFORMATION

Advocated to Make People of United States Understand This War.

(By Associated Press.)

Atlanta, Ga., June 20.—A nation wide campaign of information "deliberately designed to bring to the people of the United States quickly to a thorough understanding of all phases to the war, of why they are in it, of the kind of enemy we are fighting, and of the urgent necessity for the whole people of the United States to join with their very hearts and souls into the stupendous task" was advocated by Pomeroy Burton in an address which he delivered today before the International Rotary Convention here. Mr. Burton, the well known American Journalist in London who has been lecturing in the United States upon the relation of the United States to the war spoke as follows:

"For nearly three years the grip and bony index finger of war has been pointed straight this way.

"For nearly three years and each succeeding day with accumulating force, urgent reasons have existed for putting in order the defensive machinery of this country.

"After three years of war on a scale such as the world never dreamed of before, involving country after country and sweeping steadily on like an overwhelming tidal wave, with warning of the most definite character—the Lusitania, the Sussex, the Arabic—with lightning flashes and deafening peals of thunder from the darkening skies to tell all who were not blind and deaf of the approaching storm; despite all of these, today finds great masses of the population through out the United States dangerously apathetic and oblivious to the acute peril which threatens them. It also finds this country astoundingly unprepared.

"I am not one of those who believe the allies can be defeated—they must surely conquer in the end; but so serious are some features of the war situation today that unless the people of the United States awaken quickly to a full sense of their individual responsibilities and join heartily in the work of organizing the country for war on an enormous scale, there is almost certain to ensue a long period of ghastly fighting and world-wide suffering with ruin and starvation on every side—and by a long period I mean from five to 20 years or more.

"The war program cannot be made effective without the full co-operation of the people. That co-operation cannot be expected until the people have been aroused to a full and complete understanding of the war, of what it means to them in their future, and of the obligations and responsibilities which involve upon them if it is to be won with in the next two years.

"I would like to repeat with the utmost emphasis that I had the privilege of stating recently to the Merchants' Association of New York, that it is absolutely essential for those who are shaping the general war program, without further delay to organize and direct, under government direction, a great and far-reaching campaign of information designed to make the people understand this war. It should be made to reach the eyes and the hearts and the full understanding of the people by freely using the advertising and news columns of every useful publication in the United States, and by using the moving pictures, the billboards, the postoffices, the public buildings, the railway stations and the public conveyances, as was done in the great publicity campaigns which were successfully used to arouse the people of England to a full sense of their danger and their responsibilities at a critical period of the war. In addition to this, schoolhouses, the lecture halls, the churches, the libraries, the city halls, the public squares—all the meeting places of the people in every state of the union should resound with the voices of America's greatest and most forceful speakers, telling the people the full truth, the basic facts, about this war.

"If, coupled with this urgently needed campaign there could be accomplished a radical revision of the French and English censorship rules, permitting a much freer flow of all sorts of war facts and developments from the fighting areas than is possible under existing conditions, the effect, I feel sure would be enormously beneficial to the whole allied cause.

"For instance, would it not be the height of wisdom to reverse the policy which even yet conceals from the world the full truth about the incredible atrocities in Belgium, atrocities which, if possible have been outdone in Roumania, and which up to now have not been publicly disclosed; adopting a new policy which would release to the whole world the story of appalling barbarities perpetrated by the Germans there—many of them, too horrible to describe from a public platform, but all of them serving to show the people here what they might expect in the event of Hun invasion of the United States; what sort of enemy, in fact, is that we are fighting; exposing the fiendish devilry which caused thousands of poisoned canisters, filled with typhus germs to be dropped from German airplanes to Roumanian children to pick up and eat; the tragic story of how the Queen's little boy, her youngest, picked up one of these poison laden sweets in her garden, ate it, sickened almost at once, hovered between life and death for weeks and finally died in her arms. This story being written by the Queen's own pen and sent to a lady who has recently returned to New York, and who has the letter with her now; the shocking story of how brutal German soldiers forced gentle and refined Roumanian women to disrobe in public and then drove them in groups through the streets; the story of Roumanian's pitiable plight today with disease raging unchecked for the lack of surgeons, physicians and medical supplies; the bloodstained details of scores of submarine shagings where non-combatant victims struggling for life in the water were ruthlessly shot or struck down at short range; or when they escaped that horrible fate, where they were cast adrift in small boats on the high seas to die one after another from madnags and from thirst; and in a different category the thrilling stories of those combats in the air which are taking place every day over the fighting lines in France, stories of courage and daring the like of which have never been equaled in the widest realm of fiction; the countless stories of noble heroism, of human sacrifice and suffering for a great cause, which shows in their true light the details of modern warfare, so persistently concealed, and so urgently needed to stir the people's pulse and to make them feel and realize the truth and the full truth about this gigantic struggle between might and right on the one side and might alone on the other.

"Reverse this policy of secrecy, let the people at home have these and other true pictures of the war as it really is and I believe the response would be electrical—the people of the United States would rouse as one man to their task, fired with patriotic fervor born of a full and true understanding of what this war means to them and their future, of the individual obligations it imposes upon them at home as well as upon those who are constantly facing death in the trenches for the sake of those at home.

"And this, it seems to me, is of paramount importance in view of circumstances which exist today clearly indicating that, as this country organizes for war quickly or slowly, well or badly, earnestly or haltingly—so will the end of the war be soon or long in coming.

"Mr. Burton said that one of the reasons for the "strange lethargy" of the people of the United States was the policy of close censorship practiced by the entente allies an ethics policy already has cost countless thousands of lives and untold treasure."

"I earnestly hope it will not be repeated here," said Mr. Burton. "The public is entitled to all of the war news except those matters which military and naval experts judge to be of actual value to the enemy. Establish a censorship board of five newspapermen with consulting military and naval advisers and proceed upon that broad and simple basis that there will be an end to all this foolish censorship discussion, the public will get the facts and military secrets unsuitable for publication will be automatically withheld."

CORNS HURT TODAY?

Lift your corn or calluses off with fingers and it won't pain you one bit.

Yes! You truly can lift off every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes, as well as hardened calluses on bottom of feet without one bit of pain.

A genius in Cincinnati discovered frezzone. It is an ether compound and tiny bottles of this magic fluid can now be had at any drug store for a few cents.

Apply several drops of this frezzone upon a tender, aching corn or a callus. Instantly all soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus shriveled and loose that you can lift it off with the fingers. You feel no pain while applying frezzone or afterwards.

Just think! No more corns or calluses to torture you and they will go without equating one twinge of pain or soreness. You will call frezzone the magic drug and it really is. Genuine frezzone has a yellow label. Look for a yellow label.

PARIS GIRLS WEAR U.S. FLAG IN STRIKE

Paris, June 20.—American flags were worn by a great many of the Parisian sewing girls during their recent strike. Asked why they chose the Star Spangled Banner as the standard of their revolt, one of them replied, "Why because it demands the 'semaine anglaise,' (the English week with Saturday half holiday.)"

"Then wouldn't the British flag be more appropriate?" It was asked.

"Perhaps, but the 'drapeau etoile' (the Stars and Stripes) are much more becoming."

That was a real true de-la-Paix reason, but there was another entirely unconnected with coquetry. It was the new meaning the United States of America have acquired in France.

To the French common people in general who travel little and are not declared war on Germany. The sewing girls could be seen during their noon hour at certain street crossings and up tranquil courts, gathered around that old familiar institution of Paris, the street music vendor. With a sheet of words without music in hand, they were learning a French translation of the "Star Spangled Banner" to the air played by the music vendor on his violin.

Many of them can hum the Star Spangled Banner. Columbia is less known and America utterly neglected because the air is the same as that of God Save the King. Yankee Doodle, on the other hand is something of a favorite, being familiar to the French people as the air of an old French revolutionary song.

Very strong on geography, America had long been a country in the vague distance, celebrated for its billowings and from whence long absent relations returned with fabulous wealth to save the financial situation of their families. The Uncle from America became legendary through popular fiction and sentimental drama. George Washington, Lincoln and Wilson are now taking his place in the French mind.

France learned much about the U. S. during the first two years of the war through American motor ambulances and hospitals, American comforts and relief of all kinds sent to soldiers and civilian sufferers, and through American tobacco of which nearly every soldier had a share. She was already to pour out her heart to America, which she has done freely since the United States became her ally.

both old and young, and which at this critical time in our nation's life, is vital in its disclosures, dealing as it does with the highly systematized German espionage prevalent in England in the early days of this great war and steps, only too numerous, of which have been discovered in this country, as exemplified by recent disclosures in Congress.

Leon Gordon in the role of Christopher Brent, the British Spy, is seen at his best in this very difficult part and is gaining for himself many new friends in Boston. Miss Phyllis Ralph, a recent addition to the company, is exceptionally able in the part of Brent's assistant.

Cameron Matthews, as Carl Sanderson, the German Spy, is daily gaining in favor for his masterful rendition of his part. Beatrice Miller, Fred W. Parnall and Jessamine Newcomb, colleagues of Sanderson, again score successes in difficult character parts.

In order to supply the large demand for seats during this engagement, arrangements have been completed including patrons to purchase seats at Platten's and Jordan Marsh Company at regular prices.

BAILLOU IS POPULAR WITH HIS MEN

Santon, June 20.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—General Baillo, commanding part of the French expeditionary force in the Balkans, is so popular with his men that nearly every good story originating in his corps is either about him or attributed to him. The latest anecdote going the rounds tells how a soldier of the rough and ready style was returning to quarters near Monastir with a water jug in each hand. Coming across another mid-stained "polly" sitting beside the road, he halted him:

"Hello, old man."

"Hello," replied the other.

"Say, can't you carry one of these jugs for me?"

"Sure," and they went on together.

"Would you believe it," said the first soldier, "they've chucked me into the grade of corporal."

"What of that," replied the other.

"Didn't they chuck me into the grade of corporal?"

After nearly dropping his jug, the soldier drew closer and made out three faint stars on a mud-stained sleeve. He drew himself up at attention and saluted.

"Walk on, corporal," said General Baillo, who wouldn't consent to give up his jug.

PRIESTS WANT TO RETURN TO MEXICO

Mexico City, June 20.—The government has received petitions from about eighty Mexican priests now in the U. S. who fled from Mexico during the revolutionary period, asking permission to return. The antecedents and past actions of each will be carefully considered before permission is given or denied. Among the petitioners were several archbishops and other high church dignitaries.

URUGUAY TO DISPLAY FRIENDSHIP FOR U. S.

Montevideo, Uruguay, June 20.—President Viera has decided to make a declaration that Uruguay will not regard as a belligerent any American nation at war with nations of another continent.

Although Uruguay has decided to remain neutral in the war between the United States and Germany, the executive and legislative branches of the government have expressed approval of the action of the United States. A dispatch from Montevideo last week said American warships in Uruguayan waters would not be considered as belligerents.

R. R. ENVOYS MAKING HIT WITH RUSSIA

Petrograd, via London, June 20.—The American railroad commission which is now in Petrograd proposes to make a wider examination of Russia's railroad resources than was first contemplated, and a trip through the south is now being considered. The commission is confident great improvements are practicable, even with the existing deficiency in rolling stock. The immediate problem is congestion, and the commission believes that even under present conditions traffic can be increased more than threefold.

The Americans are somewhat sceptical. It is believed about the possibility of managing the lines on the principles put forward by N. Y. Nekrasoff, minister of communications, who is accompanying the commission. In a statement given to the Associated Press by M. Mitinsky, director of the department of material, warm appreciation was expressed for the work already done by the Americans. M. Mitinsky, who met the commission on its arrival at Vladivostok, said:

"Mr. Stevens and his colleagues found the track not so bad as expected, it being of similar construction throughout without any particularly bad spots. In regard to the rolling stock, they also found the condition of the cars relatively favorable. The work of the Americans in Vladivostok was admirable, and they are now engaged in planning and putting together shops. On the spot they decided that the facilities at Vladivostok were inadequate to take care of the expected delivery of big American orders and the construction of two big piers for ships drawing 46 feet was decided upon. I immediately obtained the consent of Petrograd and the work has already begun and will be finished within three months."

"At Harbin, Tientsin, Krasnoyarsk and Irkutsk, and also at Vyatka in European Russia, thorough examinations were made chiefly from the standpoint of finding the most suitable locations for repair shops. We will not on the advice of the commissioners."

"The commission was much impressed by our big bridges, particularly over the Suiharg, the Yenesei and at Novonikolsk. We met on route the chiefs of the technical and traffic departments and found our working personnel inclined to co-operate cordially with the Americans, one proof of which was that the train made quicker time than under peace conditions. We made it a rule to have no secrets from the commission, and although no program is fixed, I believe the Americans will stay as long as we want them. In my opinion that means a very long time."

FARM HANDS ARE WANTED IN VERMONT

(By Associated Press)
Montpelier, Vt., June 20.—Vermont, with approximately one million acres under cultivation, sent out an urgent call today for at least five thousand farm hands. Farmers are insisting that the crops will rot in the fields unless additional farm laborers are secured for harvesting.

Elbert S. Brigham, state commissioner of agriculture sought to have railroads and manufacturing concerns of the state release some of their men for temporary work in the fields but the unvarying response was that railroads and industry could use many more employees than they now have and that they could use more for the farm. Commissioner Brigham today turned to the city dwellers in Vermont and other New England states to solve the problem. He seeks to enlist before July a Vermont farm guard, whose recruits would be vacationists, young men rejected for military duty, boy scouts and others.

There are some wonderful lions with The Sparks World Famous Shows that will exhibit here on Tuesday, July 3 at the Bennett street grounds. They are not only of amazing size and beauty but they have been trained to do some of the most thrilling acts ever presented to an audience. Herr Fritz Brunner, the world's greatest lion tamer was born and raised in the jungles of equatorial Africa, and from childhood was accustomed to hear the roars of the man-eating kings of the forests that prowled about his cabin at night. His father once captured some lion cubs which he trained to aid him in his hunting expeditions. This reared, the boy naturally became a lion tamer and hunter. Selecting some cubs of the largest species known, he reared them and educated them to perform feats that would illustrate the amazing strength and agility of these beasts.

During the performance of The Sparks Shows a group of these monster animals will be turned loose in the great steel enclosure in full view of the audience. Herr Brunner will enter the enclosure unarmed and put these lions through some astonishing performance. It is the most thrilling act of the kind ever seen and will never be forgotten by the beholder.

Like every other act and feature presented by The Sparks Shows it is far away and superior to anything of the kind ever seen before. There are numerous other trained animal acts in which tigers, leopards, hyenas, temerous elephants, etc., will obey the commands of their fearless masters.

OLD AMBULANCE AS GOOD AS NEW

The city ambulance in charge of Albert Hislop has at last received the desired improvements and repairs. The improvements made by Mr. Hislop include painting, upholstering, new tires, etc. The stretcher has been rebuilt in order that it can be taken on the hospital elevator, without the removal of an injured or sick person.

The only lettering on the wagon will be the word "ambulance." This work has long been needed and Mr. Hislop has attended to the same with no expense whatever to the city.

DO YOUR PART FOR THE GLORY OF PORTSMOUTH

When the Women Canvassers for the Red Cross Call on You.

The total from the whole of the United States, $100,000,000. Portsmouth's quota, $12,000. That is only an average of one dollar from every individual. Some can afford to and will pay more. Some families can afford to pay only one dollar, even though the quota calls for ten dollars, based on the size of the family. The earnest women who will make the individual canvass tomorrow will know the ability of every person and will ask according to that measure. But the total from Old Strawberry Bank must be $12,000. New York city with all its poverty and all its wealth has already given one-third of the $100,000,000, or more than six dollars per capita for every man, woman and child. Boston will more than double the one dollar per head. Don't let Portsmouth be a slacker. Never have her people hesitated when the nation's need has been announced.

Mutilated and maimed men of Portsmouth will ever long be carried from the front line trenches before the Germans, and the ambulances, the anesthetics to ease the agony, the healing medicines, the soothing bandages, the thousand things to care for your boy must be ready. Gangrene—yes—you may have seen it in its green horror. It exists from neglect. We must be ready for the inevitable. Just as certain as the world continues to exist, there will be hundreds of thousands of the young men of our country in the fight. Russia is trembling on the edge of a blue funk. It isn't her nature; her men are brave, but she is breathless with the shock of a new freedom, and the anomaly of Russian progress almost ready to assist German atrocity is before us.

We are in it to an end, and the journey will be marked by suffering and pain for our men, for Portsmouth's boys. You won't hear a bullet, you won't feel its sting; you won't choke with German gas. But your boy may. Isn't it mighty little for you to give what is asked to make him comfortable when he is fighting for us?

It's a fine spirit these women are showing. Every one of them are giving money to the limit of their ability, as well as giving of their strength to accept your contribution and place in Red Cross hands without reduction of a single cent for organization expenses, food, smoke talks, or that kind of persuader. Women don't need to be fed to influence them to do their duty.

Get out your checkbooks, get out your pocketbooks, or perhaps you've some laid away in the old black stocking. It counts just as much when removed from the last repository as it does when taken from the steel vault. Do your part for the glory of your home town.

TO EVERY MAN IN PORTSMOUTH

Tonight at 6.30 is the time for every man in Portsmouth to come to Pierce hall and hear the story of the needs of the Red Cross work in France, Russia and other allied countries. This is the supreme opportunity to give to save your country. This supper is free and you do not have to give. But in this hour of distress, when dying humanity is crying for relief and the security of our own country is in the balance, every man in Portsmouth must certainly have interest enough to line up at Pierce hall at 6.30 tonight and hear the story, hear it sympathetically and then give something, even if it be only a nickel. But we want you present. This is the man's time to come forward and volunteer his money "bit". He shouldn't wait to be hunted down by anybody. This is not simply a charity matter. It is a matter of blood. Let every man with red blood be present. I believe the Portsmouth of today is as true and loyal as the Portsmouth of John Langdon and John Sullivan. Let there be no money slackers. Subscription cards for men will be passed at the tables tonight. There will be several hundreds of plates set and a gallery full of men, who will eat in their hands, and hear one of the best speakers in America. You are going to give any way. Be in the first trenches tonight at Pierce hall. There's no other greater duty that a man can possibly have, unless his house is on fire or some one is dying at home. Don't let anyone miss your presence in the first trenches at Pierce hall tonight. Yours truly,

JOHN H. BARTLETT,
Overseer Committee.
